BREAKTHROUGH BEAUTY PRODUCTS OF 2006
RECOGNIZED IN THE SKIN TYPE SOLUTION

best-selling book-

MOUNTAIN VIEW, Calif. – Relastin has been named one of the most innovative anti-aging products launched in 2006, according to the latest edition of what many consider the skin care bible, The Skin Type Solution. World-renowned dermatologist Leslie Baumann, M.D. offers tips on deciphering skin types and recommends superior products for treating skin conditions in the revised soft cover edition. The Skin Type Solution is available in bookstores now.

This paperback edition includes some of the most innovative skin care developments, including Relastin, a breakthrough anti-aging product launched last fall. Relastin offers the first formulation to clinically demonstrate increased functional elastin in the skin. Functional elastin, the protein that provides our skin elasticity, ceases production in our teens. As we age, existing elastin fibers break down and weaken, resulting in elastin fragments, causing skin to sag and wrinkle.

“Sun exposure, cigarette smoke and stress can all deplete the skin of its elastin, and resiliency,” explained Dr. Baumann. “Re-starting elastin production can help restore the springiness to skin and diminish fine lines and wrinkles. Until recently, no product or procedure had proven to replace this crucial component of healthy skin.”

While many products claim to increase elastin, only Relastin's Eye Silk and Skin Revitalizer have proven to increase functional elastin, thus improving the quality of skin. In The Skin Type Solution Relastin is recommended for all men and women with wrinkled skin types including dry and oily, sensitive and resistant, pigmented and non-pigmented.

ABOUT RELASTIN

Relastin is the first and only clinically proven product to increase the production of elastin, a natural protein that gives the skin elasticity. Relastin penetrates the skin to work with the cells to promote the formation of elastin, which the body ceases producing at puberty.
